

„I have a topic that only people like you with your many years of leadership experience understand.”

This is what a client said to me some years ago. He was a Senior Partner at an international strategy consultancy and he meant that my combination of 25 years of international leadership experience and solid coaching studies made me his ideal coach.

Experience, fit, science-based

I myself have benefitted from coaching several times in my many years as leader. Therefore, I studied coaching and have since coached many people like him. People who want to work with a coach who knows leadership work and its challenges and joys from own experience and not just hear-say. With a coach who chooses suitable approaches from a large toolbox and does not make their preferred method fit every situation. A coach who works grounded in science and does not deliver hocus-pocus.

Transitions, challenges, opportunities

My coaching work is about supporting leaders in transitioning into future roles, mastering challenges and seizing opportunities. We look at how factors like environment, behaviors, capabilities, beliefs and values, and identity influence these areas. Based on our assessment of these aspects, we implement a development plan for the daily leadership work.

In doing so, we work so that the clients:

1. See themselves with more clarity
2. See others with more clarity
3. Learn new behavior
4. Leverage existing strengths
5. Establish more productive relationships
6. Achieve what they want
7. Advance their career.

Self-leadership, personality, behavioral change

These are just a few of the topics I work with as trainer in Leadership in inter-active, co-creative and practice-oriented training sessions.

Facts & Figures about me

- Business studies and the University of St. Gallen (lic.oec.HSG) in Switzerland and Duke University (MBA) in the US
- 25 years' leadership experience (13 at C-Level) in Swiss, US, French, German and British organizations
- Coaching studies at Henley Business School (MSc) in the UK
- Seven years' experience as coach for international leaders
- Certified as MBTI Step I&II Certified Practitioner for personality type
- Certified as Associate Certified Coach (ACC) by the International Coaching Federation, the world's largest coaching association.

Languages, timings, formats

Coaching and Training is delivered in three languages (English, German, French) also at times that fit your busy schedule (early in the morning, evenings, weekends) in three formats (virtual Zoom sessions, on-site or a hybrid).

Get to know me! Just send me an e-mail to felix@felix-mueller.coach, call me on +49 173 2525823 or visit my website at www.felix-mueller.coach. I look forward to speaking to you!